

Novartis Pharmaceuticals Corporation

Neoral (cyclosporine) Tablets

Neoral is a prescription medicine used to prevent organ rejection in patients who have received an organ transplant. It is also used to treat certain eye conditions and certain types of skin diseases.

| Neoral        | Neoral                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|---------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Neoral        | Neoral is a prescription medicine used to prevent organ rejection in patients who have received an organ transplant. It is also used to treat certain eye conditions and certain types of skin diseases.        |
| Neoral 100 mg | Neoral 100 mg is a prescription medicine used to prevent organ rejection in patients who have received an organ transplant. It is also used to treat certain eye conditions and certain types of skin diseases. |
| Neoral 400 mg | Neoral 400 mg is a prescription medicine used to prevent organ rejection in patients who have received an organ transplant. It is also used to treat certain eye conditions and certain types of skin diseases. |
| Neoral 100 mg | Neoral 100 mg is a prescription medicine used to prevent organ rejection in patients who have received an organ transplant. It is also used to treat certain eye conditions and certain types of skin diseases. |
| Neoral 100 mg | Neoral 100 mg is a prescription medicine used to prevent organ rejection in patients who have received an organ transplant. It is also used to treat certain eye conditions and certain types of skin diseases. |

Neoral is a prescription medicine used to prevent organ rejection in patients who have received an organ transplant. It is also used to treat certain eye conditions and certain types of skin diseases.

Neoral is a prescription medicine used to prevent organ rejection in patients who have received an organ transplant. It is also used to treat certain eye conditions and certain types of skin diseases.

Neoral is a prescription medicine used to prevent organ rejection in patients who have received an organ transplant. It is also used to treat certain eye conditions and certain types of skin diseases.

Neoral is a prescription medicine used to prevent organ rejection in patients who have received an organ transplant. It is also used to treat certain eye conditions and certain types of skin diseases.

Source URL: <https://loadtest.pro.novartis.com/products/neoral/material>